Bobbitt's Pretty Widow, Clients, Cases and Stock Farms.

CRAB ORCHARD, JULY 11. — I stay with my law student now at the palatial residence of Grove C. Kennedy, who is the finest agriculturist and horticulturist, theoretical and practical, I know of. His corn crop fine, oats good, garden unsurpassed, frying chickens running around in scattered brigades, all sorts of milk (sour and sweet) and a forest of locusts and nothing to annoy you but the singing of the birds, whose musical lays in the matutinal part of the day, at early dawn, is the only thing that disturbs your sweet repose. Oh the joy of a country life! The student drives me in each Saturday evening behind a wild zebra that keeps me silently muttering prayers till I am safely landed in town. I alighted at the Springs yesterday evening and was pursued 300 or 400 yards by a wealthy, fascinating young widow from the State whose motto is: "Here we Rest." She stopped, panting like a graceful gazelle, almost out of breath and extended her card and hand, and I, by her request, escorted her to a nearby parlor and for more than two hours a rapid torrent of prose and poetry flowed in an unbroken stream and I breathed her lovely brow with a wreath of classic beauty. By her request I am to call on at the Springs at 2 o'clock this evening when she notified me she was going to look her sweetest. I said, well I should as well fall dead now. In less than a year people will be performing pilgrimages to Crab Orchard as Mohammedans to Mecca. The property will go up.

By taking to the back allies I avoided the rush of eight or ten clients that had been waiting for me all day. I want to say to my clients now that I want to read law and make a very great lawyer, but I don't want to be employed, especially Saturday evenings, when I come to see the stock on my three farms.

My law student will obtain license to practice law in September, then I can return to my town office and Kennedy can do the practicing and I can write my law book—"The Law As It Is." My services are required at the picnic on South Fork Saturday, 15th, but I can not attend. FONTAINE FOX BOBBITT.

HUBBLE.

A. P. Sloan sold his fat hogs to Mr. McWhorter at 43c.

John Underwood sold some fat hogs to Tom Elkin at 5c.

R. L. Chrisman sold a pair of work mules to Winfrey Barnett for $400.

Mrs. J. A. Hammonds and daughter are visiting relatives in Casey and Russell.

The supper given Saturday evening by the ladies of the Christian church amounted to $38.25.

Owsley Carman, who has been in the government service for some years, has his discharge and is at home for a short visit.

Mr. Ed Miller and wife are arranging to meet their son, Frank, in Cincinnati Sunday and he will come home for a short stay.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed 10 per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard.

She—You know, Judge our characters are different, and I don't want to be in his way.

He—Yes, your honor, she is peculiar, and I don't want to interfere.

Judge—I understand. You ask for a divorce out of pure love!

Caleb Powers has asked United States District Attorney Tinsley not to call him as a witness against Mayor Helmbold and Patrolmen Ratican and Flynn. He says there are enough witnesses without him. The whole situation at Newport is described as rather farcical.

An impressive incident in connection with the obsequies of James Caldwell, Confederate veteran, at Newport was the recital in audible tones of the "Lord's Prayer," by the entire assemblage of mourners.

"Brunettes are born to suffer," says an advertising physician. Blondes are, of course, not born, but made, adds an exchange.

There is a revival of the bicycle craze in England. The great bicycle factories are working over time to fill orders.

KINGSVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meeks have a little daughter. She is named Maxie. Miss Dovie Sims went to Lexington Saturday. Mrs. Katherine Watts is visiting relatives at Harriman, Tenn.

The I. J. speaks of Squire John Singleton's case of small pox as being in the "Pleasant Point section." This looks like a bold attempt to ignore Kingsville, or that it is regarded as too small a place to have small pox. But we've proved to the contrary, according to the best authority. However, the disease doesn't seem to spread very rapidly and all who are not already vaccinated are having it done.

Miss Effie Carey left Monday for Lexington and Paris. J. Everard Creighton is visiting friends in Somerset. Clyde Campbell has returned from Lexington. Joe Lanahan, of Ludlow, was here Monday. Lee Butler, of Lexington, was here this week. Mr. William Wolfe, of Georgetown, is our new station agent. He has been agent here before and his many friends are glad to have him back. He is a good agent and very popular. James North, who succeeded Mr. Dickerson, has returned to Moreland. Both were efficient and popular, like all the Q. & C. men. Trainmaster W. M. Tukey was here a few days since.

On Tuesday morning Miss Ottie Faulkner and Manfred Chevolette, accompanied by her brother, Mr. John Faulkner, and Miss Cora Cash, drove in from Highland and the former couple caught No. 4, due here at 3:30, for Cincinnati, where they were married. After spending two days in the city they will return here, where at the home of the groom's mother a number of friends and relatives will be entertained at dinner. After the reception and a visit to her home at Highland, the happy couple will go to Somerset to reside as that place is more convenient to Mr. Chevolette's work. He is employed as brakeman on the C. S. and will soon be promoted to conductor. The marriage is the culmination of a four years' courtship, and while the wedding was rather quiet, it was not unexpected. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Faulkner, of Highland, and is a lovely young lady in character as well as personal charms. She was attired in a lovely brown costume and looked very sweet and happy. The groom is handsome and an exemplary young man. We claim them both as personal friends and if either of them has an enemy we have never heard of it. So we feel sure that they have the best wishes of all who know them for a joyous, prosperous married life.

MIDDLEBURG.

School will begin here the third Monday in this month.

Mrs. Emma Frederick and family left Tuesday for Illinois, where they will make their future home.

Rev. Shouse filled his appointment at the Baptist church Saturday evening, Sunday and Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett McWhorter, of Yosemite, are visiting Mrs. Mary Jones. Miss Ettie Gifford has returned from an extended visit to relatives at Dye. Rod Wesley was visiting his grandfather, Dr. Wesley, last week. C. L. Pruitt was on the sick list. Mrs. Sarah Hatter, of Pellyton, was with Mrs. Ann C. Eason, Oscar Lanham and wife, of Dye, were visiting Mrs. Mary Rigney Sunday.

While the glorious Fourth was observed in various ways by our people, we are quite sure that the day was no more enjoyed by any one than by the following little party, which observed the natal day of our country's existence, battling with chiggers, mosquitoes and wily rattlers in the huckleberry woods and knobs some three miles from town: Mrs. Mary Jones, Frank Jones, Everett McWhorter, and Misses Selena Jones and Ethel Coleman. Luncheon was served in the woods ala chip; lemonade and other refreshments were served, while nature's beverage, as it trickled down from its mountain fastnesses, was quaffed as a toast to Columbia and Old Glory. Altogether it was a day enjoyably spent, and one long to be remembered by those present.

Forced To Starve.

B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky., says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns, cuts and wounds. At G. L. Penny's, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard. Only 25c.

In Paris the Post-office Department is now using several electric mail wagons, which are designed to transport the mail matter in larger quantities and at a greater speed than the old horse-drawn vehicles.

Crab Orchard has much to boast of at present, as such a talented crowd has rarely been seen at the Springs, representing the law propounders of the various counties.

Mr. Holdam Stuart, wife and baby and Leon DeBord, who have been in California for several months, arrived Tuesday night, are with Mrs. George DeBord. We understand they will not return to California.

All is bustle and stir, getting ready for the fair, which promises to be the very best ever held at this place. The city fathers are having the streets cleaned and sidewalks built and the town will be much improved in appearance.

The opening ball at Crab Orchard Springs was Thursday night and about 200 guests were at the grand old resort, that ought not to be anything but a watering place for the afflicted and tired, as in the days of yore when the wealth, beauty and talent of the South met here with their families to refresh and restore tired bodies, and always went away satisfied that the best place on earth to forget the ills of life is at old Crab Orchard Springs.

As to preaching, arguing and interpreting Scripture in the pulpit, the eccentricities of ministers are endless. We need not have recourse to such stories as that of Lorenzo Dow, who performed "the shortest sermon on record." His subject was "Backsliding," and what might be called the body of his sermon consisted of his climbing up a smooth sapling with great pains and difficulty and the sliding down again. An immense concourse of people had assembled to hear him, and great was their astonishment at witnessing this performance. The only words uttered were: "Hold on there, Dow; hold on." Then he slid down again, put on his coat and hat.

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one for four weeks when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at G. L. Penny's, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard; price 50c.

One of the oddest tombstones in America is above the grave of T. B. Lane, at Akron, Ohio. A dozen years ago a meteor fell upon the Lane farm, at Talmadge, burying itself 16 feet in the earth. It was dug out, and on the death of Mr. Lane was utilized as a tombstone. The meteor, which resembles a mass of iron ore, is mounted on an oblong, pedestal of polished granite, and is in marked contrast to the crude sculptures found in other parts of the cemetery where the grave is located.

A Surprise Party.

A Detroit woman is said to have deceived her husband three successive years by palming off borrowed babies as her own. Such a sucker as that deserves to be made a fool of.—Frankfort State Journal.
